Dear Web Site Visitor,

Happy 2012!

It's very hard to believe it's January, given the unbelievable weather we've been having. Mid 50's today! (For those of you here in the Chicagoland area enjoying this wonderful warmth & lack of snow, you have me to thank ... I bought my husband a snow blower for Christmas! Ha.) We'll be back to winter in a couple days tho. Just in time for the local ice carving competition :).

January also means corporate awards, fantasy football trophies and the start of employee recognition programs, all of which we are rarin' & ready to make for you! If you're interested in some of the other things we do here, like us on facebook. I've started a photo album showcasing "stuff we do". I think you'll be surprised by all the different types of work we do here on a daily basis.

Thanks again for your continued support! We're happy to be here another year to provide you with your awards, trophies, gifts & more!
